

ALFRED

Film Club's Award

In the atelier of a friend, the Leipzig painter Albrecht Gehse, I saw a painting of Alfred Florstedt.

I got to know him and he told me about his life. That was on the 28th of January 1985 in Leipzig. One week later, on the 4th of February, Alfred Florstedt died.

What remained, was a portrait, some photographs and audio tape recordings. They were the starting point for this film.

We visited the places where Alfred lived for many years - West of Leipzig, Lindenau, Plagwitz - a workers' district.

A search for traces, for memories.

The subjective reconstruction of the rich and varied life of a German worker.
